Apparently, everything in the Universe is connected by an invisible, unbreakable network. Trees in the forest send their nutritional value to each other through the roots when another tree is in need. Animals form herds to survive and protect each other.

I have never seen a bird going overseas alone.

As if all that exists is WE.

WE, consisting of many individual, unique I.

WE, in which there is Life and Death and Consent for both.

WE, where all the stories lie.

It is enough to exist to be WE.

I have a quiet, shy dream that my I and your I are a part of WE.

Whoever I am and whoever you are.

That each I is included in the existence of WE.

I would like to let this dream go into the world. Because I want to let go of myself. Not to prove, not to deserve, not to match. Just be.

If you read it, if you feel it ...

Come and let us be.

Let's make a herd!

LET'S MAKE A TRIBE!

Let's shout

Let's dance

Let's sing

Let's talk

Let's free ourselves!
