It is the story of a female protagonist and her adventures in a magical world that is fascinatingly similar to ours. The authors ask where the grim continuity of events and the feeling of powerlessness will end and whether the current civilisations of the world are growing spiritually. Are they even able to draw a positive balance? What will free our hearts from fear and indifference?
The authors tackle the issues of exclusion, pride, cruelty and the usurpation of rights for misdeeds. “Tales of the Heart” is a musical-visual performance, a total experience involving all the senses. It shocks and heals the soul at the same time.
The show is composed for a non-obvious ensemble in which we will hear a voice, singing, playing bowls, gongs, a death whistle, electronics, cello, Jericho trumpet and trombone. It combines jazz, folk, and hardcore with white voice and ethnic instruments.
