PRAYERS (of those who do not pray)* is a homo religiosus howling, a story about the need to find and name a God, about longing for hierophany, the need to participate in a ritual, a struggling search for Meaning, about futile attempts at sorting out one's humanity in the context of a deity, force majeure, energy, space... Call it what you want.

There is also a great rebellion, discord, fight with the deity, fight for oneself, getting lost, a desperate attempt to understand, reproach...

We are going to look for the sacred in this strange ceremony. We don't know where we find it. We don't know WHETHER we find it.

OFF: Prayers (of those who do not pray)

What we know for sure: our search is strongly accompanied with the words
ECCE HOMO.
